Trends

- This month we have included two new parameters we have been tracking – the monthly Commodity Prices vs. Milk Blend Price and the ROF comparison between complete feed, supplement and commodities.
- It is important to note that as commodities have recently increased substantially in price, the milk blend price is at this year's low, adding pressure on-farm to maximize profit (ROF included).
- Interestingly supplements came out on top for overall ROF over the commodity fed herds. We believe this is because of the ability to utilize more ingredients when balancing using a supplement. The monthly commodity prices were developed using the Weekly Commodity Newsletter.
- 3x herds still maintain the top spot with respect to ROF however, robot herds have moved to the top on milk production.
